Never a Dull Moment in the Summer

40 passenger Diesel activity bus has arrived in port

The second week of July, Gus and Illiana Hernandez, the current executive directors of the Highlands Camp introduced us formally to the staff. We had met many of them last year at our 180° youth camp (July 2014 prayer letter). The whole day went well and after some follow up meetings we headed into Andres (the city we want to start the new church) to enroll the girls in a local school called "Las Palomitas" (Popcorn). Later that same day,

I took off for Norfolk, Virginia from the Santo Dominigo airport and drove the bus we have been praying for down to the port in Miami. That was quite an adventure (too long to tell) and then it was back into Santiago to be at the young people's meeting and Church on Sunday prior to Vacation Bible School. The following week during VBS, Regina and I dressed up like children and kickstarted each day's activities with a drama about the importance of receiving Christ as Savior (49 received Christ). Then it was off to Haiti. It's been awhile since our team was in Haiti due to a lot of political problems but we didn't want to miss their second annual VBS (they had 202 children in attendance the last day). Also, we needed to gather some of our tools so we could begin to build in Don Pedro, D.R. We practically have a construction company in tools there and after several days of work, trucks and tons of patience with the Haitian and Dominican Customs Authorities (oohh the pain!) we had everything back and in place.

Posts & Retweets

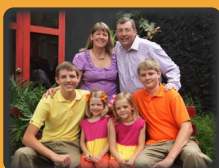

A large beautiful house came available for rent in front of the property we are getting ready to build on and Pastor just came to terms

Pastor Clifford and Louisna have seen specialists in Haiti and here in the Dom. Rep. and very much would like to have a child

Location will allow church to build with ease & save $
